

Set 1 - Sentences to Read

Pip sat on his bed.

The fat cats rest a lot.

The kids left mud on the rug

I just quit the band.

His gems go in a box at the unit.

She was glad he sat next to us.

The yak was in my van.

Me and Stan went to drum in the city. It was grand.

The kind old man is cold, so zips up.

Tim put stamps on his post.

Set 2 - Sentences to Read

What happens when Cliff can't run up the hill to the city?

The rabbit and duck both jump back into the sandpit.

The pilot will get another giant bonus.

Which shop sells the best fish and chips?

You don't think he wanted to sing along to the music.

Which brother jumped the longest?

Gran wishes she hadn't tripped over when she pegged out the washing.

The drumming dancer was the funniest thing ever!

The swimmer was happily running into the cold water when he slipped.

Sadly, Will didn't bother visiting the biggest hotel.

Set 3A - Sentences to Read

The small train's wheel will be fixed soon.

I read my book on board the boat under the moonlight.

She said, "I like your style and hope you stick with it"

The cute puppy sat next to the centipede and barked.

The bright pink stork attracted a swarm of bees.

There were four doors in the haunted room.

The girl's fur coat was brown and kept her warm in the snow.

Grant goes up to the group and shouts loudly, "Get your shoes on and then touch your toes!"

Could you find the toys covered in tin foil which join together?

Set 3B - Sentences to Read

The boy was in tears when he dropped his pear on the stairs.

The alien was sure he had landed on the planet Earth but was filled with dread when he didn't see any humans.

I painted a picture of a meal deal with bread, steak and peaches!

Jess wanted to save the animals from having to live in cages.

The house was at the end of the bridge and had a red fence around it.

The lamb was in the wrong place as he had strayed into next door's barn.

A gnome knocked on my door and asked if he could draw my grey donkey.

There is no fruit left in the bowl.

The builder took a photo of the laughing clown who was dancing in the field.

The lady in the veil threw her pie and it splattered all over the ceiling.