

Freedom Digest!

Welcome to our Spring Freedom Digest! We've got loads going on at the moment with work already beginning on our new production of Black Teeth and a Brilliant Smile, a showcase of new writing for our Street Voices writers, a creative facilitation workshop and we also need your help to get a fantastic Palestinian artist, and friend of ours, to the UK!

Creative Facilitation Training!

Monday 15th April 2019, 1.30pm - 4.30pm

Freedom Studios is offering FREE creative facilitation training to theatre practitioners, artists and facilitators.

This training workshop will cover how to thoroughly structure and plan a theatre workshop so you can get the most out of your participants and apply your creative practise to educational settings.

We will cover:

- Aims and objectives: Why is it useful to set targets for each workshop. How to set SMART aims and objectives.
- Structuring and scaffolding: How to structure an exercise, workshop and scheme of work. How to guide a participant through a creative process, where they have ownership over their learning experience.
- Explaining and Questioning: How to give clear instructions and ask the right questions.

Training will be delivered by Youth Theatre Director Natalie Quatermass

When: 15th April 2019, 1.30pm - 4.30pm

Where: Kala Sangam, 1 Forster Square, St Peters House BD1 4TY

To reserve a place please email: Natalie@freedomstudios.co.uk
