

Leader as Coach

Coaching is a very powerful tool for staff development. It can unlock people's potential in a way that mentoring on its own cannot often achieve. Learning how to coach successfully is a skill that transcends the individual situation and can become part of the culture and ethos of the school. Anita Basic is a highly experienced coach and has led training for staff of all career stages.

Ethos:

Our Programmes are interactive, engaging and facilitated by well-qualified, experienced trainers who work with leaders in the Executive Coaching field (both public and private sector)

I had heard of coaching but never really understood what it involved. This has really opened my eyes to its potential, as well as given me key skills I can use in so many situations.

The best CPD I have ever had.

Being coached myself as part of the sessions was a truly liberating experience - learning I am the agent of my own change is very powerful.
