

Managing the Tricky Class

For teachers in the early years of their career

Aims

In this two and a half hour session we will cover;

- Understanding the dynamic of the challenging class
- Not feeding disruptive behaviour
- Positive behaviour management strategies

Objectives

By the end of the session you will be able to;

- Use body language and voice modulation to successfully deal with attention seeking behaviour
- More confidently employ de-escalation techniques
- Explore a range of strategies to complement your current approach

These sessions are funded for Northern Lights and partners' NQTs. A charge of £50 will apply to all others.

The Facilitator

Lisa Miller is an education consultant specialising in discipline and behaviour management. She taught English in mainstream secondary education for seventeen years; establishing Practical Tactics in 2008.

During her time as a Pastoral Leader she developed effective techniques for providing discreet, sympathetic and practical support for students and staff who had encountered difficulties in the classroom.

Lisa's classroom management style is non confrontational, using an understanding of behavioural and cognitive approaches to enhance the classroom success of students and teachers.
