About the course

The quality of a school's spiritual, moral, social and cultural (SMSC) development is central to its ethos. Its importance is emphasised in the Ofsted framework, particularly in relation to leadership, management and overall effectiveness of the school. This one-day course, led by qualified and experienced teacher-advisors, balances input with reflection and interactivity and guides participants in developing SMSC in their own school context. The course is fully updated to cover September 2015 Ofsted changes and British values.

'Pupils' spiritual, moral, social and cultural development and, within this, the promotion of fundamental British values, are at the heart of the school's work.' - Outstanding Ofsted School Inspection handbook September 2015

Outcomes

At the end of the course, you will:

- have a clear understanding of what SMSC development looks like in a school;
- be aware of the Ofsted definitions for SMSC and inspection expectations in this area;
- be equipped with the knowledge needed to create and implement a whole-school SMSC strategy;
- take home a number of classroom resources which exemplify SMSC development, as well as the invaluable SMSC toolkit and audit and staff meeting powerpoint which is available exclusively to course delegates;
- understand how to evidence and evaluate the impact of SMSC.

Who is it for?

Headteachers, senior and middle leaders leading on SMSC development.

"I would like to reiterate what I said on the day. Absolutely brilliant course run by two exceptionally enthusiastic, knowledgeable individuals. I'm pretty modest in my praise most of the time but it was terrific!"

Patrick Barrett, Assistant Principal,
The Eastwood Academy, Leigh-on-Sea

"The advisor knowledge is amazing and the session covered everything using a variety of activities and information. The resources were excellent and ongoing support was offered. This has been the best CPD I have ever attended!"

Rachel Williams, Teacher
The Academy, Selsey
